

Theater Job Nears Finish

Completion of the new Paramount Hollywood Theater, rebuilt from the El Capitan, for years one of the most prominent theaters in Hollywood, is scheduled for this week. The site has been leased for a 20-year period from E. C. Toberman by Fanchon & Marco, operators of a chain of theaters.

Cost of rebuilding the El Capitan was $175,000, it was announced. Architects W. L. and Hal Pereira planned the remodeling.
