Theater closes

The Pomona Fox Theater, which has been offering top motion picture entertainment as well as special shows to the valley for the past 45 years, has closed down.

An official of Mann Theaters, operator of the local movie house, said the closing was temporary and would probably last until Christmas.

Lack of community support was given as the reason for the closing which took place at the end of the Ali-Norton boxing match Tuesday night.